Monday morning school opens. A summer of vacation or work or loafing is now over and about nine hundred students head back to school here. Some of them go because they want to, some because they have to and a great many because they haven't anything else to do.

It is a far cry from the days of the little red school house and the birch rod method of education. Now we have beautiful buildings and football teams and child psychology (whatever that is) and play hours. But the old methods turned out some good products and if the new ideas can just equal them there is nothing much to worry about in the way of "crime waves" and depressions and "modern degeneration." If there is to be a solution of the present-day problems, the crux of that solution will lie in education, now tionm eth-sd ayhun-seVo as it has always.

As long as the schools of the country and town continue to teach to its children the fundamental ideals of good American citizenship, common honesty and how to read a book they will do more than all other forces combined to keep this country in its place at the top.

One of America's proudest boasts, and justly so, is that any man, with an education given him free by the state, can rise to the highest position within the gift of the people. Many times has the boast been fulfilled. Campbell's schools are as fine as any of similar size in the country and the products of our schools can take their rightful place in the community life. Some of them will go outside of it and, who knows, eventually land at the top of the heap at Washington? Stranger things than that have happened.

So, to all returning students, future Presidents and future citizens, the Campbell Press wishes you a happy and full year.

Patriotism, no matter what country receives it, is sometimes a wonderful thing to observe. One of the finest examples of it recently occurred in England. Prime Minister MacDonald, knowing that he would be thrown out of the Labor Party which it took him the greater part of his life time to build, consented to form a coalition cabinet in order to save England from grave dangers. It meant the end of his political supremacy, for few coalition governments can last more than a short time. But nevertheless he gave up his party loyalty, his life-long beliefs and his Laborite friends to put all his efforts into a temporary solution of the problems of his country. That, no matter what happens, is patriotism. And, reverting back to the top of this column, is one of the things that could profitably be taught in our schools.

—That's all!

THOS. H. MARTIN
INVENTS TRACTOR
TRUCK AT SHOP

Martin Iron Works has turned out a new leviathan in the form of a tractor-buggy. Thos. Martin, the architect, designer and mechanic on the job takes great pride, and justly too, in making big things that work. His latest pet is a 10-ton capacity carriage for the rapid transport of tractors over our paved highways.

The springs of this bicycle (two wheeled carrier) weigh 400 pounds. The underslung crank axle of solid steel weighs 540 pounds and the total weight is 3500 pounds. This cart was built entirely in Martin's shop and gives one an idea of the big jobs that can be done here in Campbell.

The tractor can be automatically loaded by simply driving on the inclined platform that locks when the center of gravity passes over the center of the truck, or beyond the axle.

The wheels are double on each side and fitted with solid rubber tires.

It will create a sensation when one sees a 4-mile tractor speeding down the highway at 40 miles per hour.

45-MILE ZONE SIGNS BEING ERECTED BY AUTO ASSOCIATION

Motorists traveling the open highway will soon be greeted by special road signs calling their attention to the new maximum speed limit of 45 miles per hour. The design of the new markers has been approved following a conference between E. Raymond Cato, chief of the California State Automobile Association and the Automobile Club of Southern California, it was announced yesterday.

Work of erecting the signs will begin at an early date, according to announcements by the automobile clubs, which are official road signing agencies for California. Cato is completing a survey of the State Highway System to select locations.

The new signs are large and easily read, with black lettering on a white background reading "State Speed Limit 45 Miles." They will be erected close to the lane of travel, where they will be readily visible in daytime and where they will show up clearly at night in the beams of automobile headlights.

Present plans call for the erection of the new state limit markers only on main routes of travel in the State Highway System, particularly on long, straight stretches.

C. OF C. TO GET
ZONE MARKERS
FOR CAMPBELL

The local Chamber of Commerce met in regular session last Tuesday evening. A letter had been sent to the Southern Pacific company protesting against the removal of the 3:15 train through Campbell. The reply to that letter was read at this meeting. Officials of the S. P. stated that the removal was temporary and was part of their economy plan for the winter. The train goes off September 15 but adequate service may be provided for Campbell.

Several plans were submitted for the program on Old Settler's Day to be held here this spring and a brief discussion was held.

The chamber is taking steps toward getting the new 20 and 25-mile zone markers placed in Campbell. This will be taken up with the county board of supervisors. A mass meeting will be held soon for the purpose of taking further steps in forming a police district.

Pundita Circle to Meet With Mrs. Stray
Wednesday Sept. 30

Mrs. Walter H. Stray, Mrs. J. J. Pardee and Mrs. A. M. Standish will be hostesses Wednesday September 30 to the Pundita Circle which will be held at the Stray home on Second street. This is the first meeting of the 1931-32 club year and the subject is to be "Fall Gardening." Mrs. Pardee and Mrs. Standish have charge of the program.

The new officers in charge for this season are president, Mrs. G. W. Page; vice-president, Mrs. D. H. Cramer; secretary, Mrs. Rose Hanger; treasurer, Miss Anne Schulte and parliamentarian, Mrs. L. J. Carboni.

STUBBE-COOKE
WEDDING HERE
FRIDAY NIGHT

Miss Ruth Stubbe became the bride of Lloyd Cooke in a beautiful wedding ceremony last Friday evening at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stubbe on North First street.

The bride was dressed in a gown of white tulle and silk lace, with a veil held with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Miss Genevieve Childs of Palo Alto was maid of honor and Peter Hienzon was the best man.

The living room of the home was beautifully decorated with large baskets of flowers and an altar and background was made entirely of asters. A white wedding bell, from which rose petals fell, was hung above the couple. The bride and groom knelt on a white silk pillow while Rev. A. S. Buell read the marriage lines. Mrs. Mary Stubbe, grandmother of the bride, who is 74 years old, played the wedding march, after which Mrs. Harry Jenkins and Mrs. Lydia McLeod sang a duet, "Oh, Promise Me." After the ceremony Miss Mildred Cooke sang "I Love You Truly." They were accompanied at the piano by Ralph and Mrs. Stubbe.

Following the ceremony, which took place at eight o'clock, a reception was held at which the bride cut the huge wedding cake made by her mother. The couple left immediately after for a short honeymoon to Monterey and other places of interest along the coast.

They returned Monday evening and are making their home at 44 Rincon avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whitney and their niece, Miss W. E. Currell of King City will return tonight from a visit to the State Fair at Sacramento where they have been since Friday.

MRS. ED GENASCI
BURIED AT SANTA
CLARA MON. SEPT. 4

Mrs. Ernestine Genasci, wife of Ed Genasci, died Friday Sept. 4 at the San Jose hospital after a relapse following an operation for appendicitis. Relatives and friends believed her to be well on the road to recovery and soon able to return home when the relapse came from which she never recovered.

Mrs. Genasci came as a bride to Campbell fifteen years ago where she has since resided. She is survived by her husband and three children, Melvin, Donald and Nadine, and mother Mrs. Pia Pezzoni of San Jose.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from the Hocking and Williams chapel. Mass was held at the St. Patrick's church. Interment was made in the Santa Clara Catholic cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair
Here from Persia
For Six Months Visit

Edward Blair, M. D., and his wife, formerly Catherine Cooper and one of Campbell's native daughters, arrived Saturday night from Persia, where they have been for the past six years, engaged in the medical mission at Teheran. Before returning to the same field, the Blairs will spend six months in California. They have numerous speaking engagements, and will do some work in San Francisco hospitals. At present they are with Mrs. Blair's father, Charles Cooper, in Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Hedegard and daughter, have returned from Woodland, where they were called by the serious illness of Leo Hedegard.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Hedegard are at home after attending the funeral services for Mrs. Hedegard's father, Carl Anderson, who recently died in Merced.

AUTO RACING AT SAN JOSE TRACK
SUNDAY SEPT. 12

Ernie Triplett, the "Belvedere Bad Boy," may be the leading contender for the 1931 dirt track driving championship, but Francis Quinn, the 1930 title holder, is definitely of the opinion that Triplett is over rated and that Ernie will have plenty of trouble on his hands on the San Jose speedway next Sunday.

Quinn, according to a letter received here today by Linn Mathewson of the San Jose Speedway Association, is preparing to bring a faster car to the local track for the meet of the thirteenth. "I've been able to show Ernie a few things about piloting a racing automobile on the Ascot Speedway and I expect to give him as much trouble in your 7-event card Sunday. There are a lot of people who are inclined to believe that he has the Indian sign on me so far as San Jose is concerned so it'll be up to me to show them otherwise."

Entries of Kelly Petillo, Nick Martino, Arvol Bronmier, Mel Kersally, "Babe" Stapp, Chet Gardner, Speed Hinkley, "Swede" Smith and Charley Gelston have already been received by Mathewson.

EILEEN FULTON,
PHILLIP FLETCHER
WED SATURDAY

Miss Eileen Fulton was married Saturday evening to Phillip Fletcher at the Congregational church manse. Rev. J. H. Bennett officiated at the ceremony. Jean Skiff of San Jose was maid of honor and Richard Fletcher, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. Fletcher is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Fulton on Sunnyside. A large number of friends were present at a reception at the Fulton home given in honor of the bride and groom.

Summer Group of

Farm Board Quits Buying Cotton as Well as Wheat—
New Government Securities Marketed—Doings in Geneva.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Carl Williams.

PRICE fixing by stabilization has finally been abandoned by the federal farm board, as a great many citizens believe it should have been long ago. Carl Williams, vice chairman of the board, announced that no further purchases of wheat or cotton would be considered under any circumstances.

"Stabilization," said Mr. Williams, "is valuable in the face of temporary or seasonal surpluses. But the board has discovered, and it hopes that the American people have discovered, that continued purchases in the face of continued production is not a remedy for the agricultural situation."

The board's cessation of wheat buying had previously been announced, but the statement of its determination to withdraw from the cotton market was new, and was not pleasant news for the southern planters.

E. A. Cudahy, Jr., president of the Cudahy Packing company, gave notice that his company would invest 10 per cent of its southern sales up to December 1 in cotton bought on the open market, the total to be thus invested being estimated at about $1,000,000. The cotton will be held by the Cudahy company for one year if necessary, or until such time as cotton returns to 10 cents a pound. The first purchases were made at about 7 cents a pound.

WHATEVER the poor farm board does seems to anger a lot of Americans. The trade of wheat for coffee, with Brazil, appeared to be a wise move, but first the shipping interests wailed because the grain was to go in Brazilian ships; then the coffee dealers in the United States raised a loud howl that their trade would be injured; and now the Millers' National federation is up in arms. "The reason for the protest of the millers is that Brazil, as one result of the wheat-coffee barter, has declared an embargo on all imports of flour for eighteen months. Most of the flour for South American export is milled in Buffalo, N. Y., and several southern cities, and the millers there will be hard hit by the embargo. And that isn't all. Argentina heretofore has been the granary for Brazil, and the deal with the farm board virtually kills the sale of nearly 10,000,000 bushels of Argentine grain to Brazil annually. The Argentine government has registered a formal protest in Washington, but of course the deal will go through anyhow."

If the farm board reaches terms with China for the sale of a lot of wheat on long term credit, it is possible some of the old shipping board vessels will be resuscitated to carry the grain and will then be sold in the Orient. It is also suggested that this wheat be shipped in cotton bags, which would help, by 7,500,000 bags, in reducing the cotton surplus. It is figured this whole plan would give employment to much American labor.

No solution of the cotton problem has yet been reached. The Louisiana legislature, at the behest of Governor Long, passed a bill prohibiting the planting of cotton in 1932, with the provision that the governor might suspend it if states raising 75 per cent of the crop failed to adopt similar legislation. This put the matter up to Texas, producer of one-third of the nation's cotton crop, and the sentiment in that state appeared to be against Governor Long's scheme. For one thing, the cotton raisers of the South have neither the equipment nor the experience to raise any other crops.

GENEVA was swarming with statesmen and political scientists during the week. Economic experts from twenty-six nations assembled there as a co-ordinating committee of the commission for European union, and the council of the League of Nations met on Tuesday; while the members of the League assembly were gathering for the sessions of that body beginning September 7. Most of the topnotchers were in the Swiss city, and not the least nor the idliest was Maxim Litvinov, that wily and skillful statesman who is the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

The first thing this Russian did was to submit to the co-ordinating committee a proposal for a general non-aggression pact. Andre Francois-Poncet, French delegate, tried to have the plan referred to the economic committee of the league where it could be allowed to die, for France likes better the idea of separate non-aggression treaties. Litvinov, vigorously seconded by Doctor Curtius and Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, insisted upon immediate action. The committee finally agreed to pass the plan over to a subcommittee which was to edit it and report back to co-ordinating committee.

Germany and Austria, after conference with the French delegates, agreed to drop their plan for a customs union without waiting for the decision of the World court's ruling as to its legality.

SECRETARY of the Treasury Mellon placed on the market new government securities totaling $1,100,000,000 to start the fall financing campaign of the treasury. Treasury bonds for $800,000,000 headed the list. They run for 20 to 24 years and bear 3 per cent interest, the lowest since the war. The rest of the total sum was made up of $300,000,000 of one-year treasury certificates of indebtedness bearing interest at the rate of 1 1/2 per cent.

It was revealed in Washington that the government would need probably all of this huge sum to retire maturing obligations and to finance treasury operations during the next quarter, which makes it apparent that the deficit at the end of the year will far exceed that for the last twelve months. In some quarters it is predicted that the deficit, taking into consideration the fact that there will be no war debt payments this year, will run above a billion and a quarter. The public debt during the course of the year, if no move is made to increase receipts, may be increased as much as a billion dollars.

GREAT BRITAIN's financial credit was restored when American and French bankers, led by J. P. Morgan, agreed to lend the government $400,000,000 for one year. In America the loan—one-half of the total—was absorbed by the banks; but one-half of the French share was offered to the public. The French were elated over the arrangement, looking on it as a fine political coup which would bring Britain into close collaboration with them both economically and politically.

England's financial troubles, however, are likely to result in the downfall of one of her financial giants—Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England. It is believed he will be retired at the end of his present term. Mr. Norman was reported to be on the verge of a nervous and physical breakdown at the time of the crisis, and he hurried over to Canada for a vacation, leaving his associates to get out of the mess as best they could. It was said, too, that before leaving he tried to induce Mr. Morgan to place the entire loan in America, shutting out France, and that this was reported to the French.

PRESIDENT MACHADO formally announced that the Cuban revolt had been entirely suppressed, and then went fishing. The final blow to the rebel cause came with the surrender of Col. Roberto Mendez Penate, last of its big militant leaders, and the departure for New York of Dr. Miguel Mariano Gomez, former mayor of Havana. Nationalist circles were shocked when word of Senor Gomez' departure became known. He had been believed to be the only man with sufficient support to keep up the revolutionary spirit.

FRANK T. HINES, administrator of veterans' affairs, addressing the annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Kansas City, asked on behalf of the government that all veterans' organizations refrain from asking congress for further legislation in their behalf until they have studied and determined the ultimate cost of relief acts on the law books. He noted that the government's annual outlay for benefits to former service men amount to about $900,000,000 and stressed what he termed the "inevitable trend" of all forms of veterans' aid toward increase above the initial expectations.

In the meantime, he said, the principal need of veterans is more jobs. He explained the bureau was working with the Labor department toward this end.

JOSEPH PAUL-BONCOUR, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the French chamber of deputies, gave out in Paris a statement in which he renewed the proposal that the nations of the world place their armed forces under control of the League of Nations, and predicted that France would lead the way in the disarmament conference in 1932. This statement was declared by the French foreign office to represent the permanent view of the government. In Washington official quarters it was received coldly, being regarded as a move on the part of France to determine the attitude of the new national British ministry on the old subject of pooling of armaments.

T. C. T. Crain

SEVERAL incidents within the last few days have served to bolster up the Roosevelt boom for the Democratic Presidential nomination. After angering Tammany—apparently—by supporting the plans of the Republican legislators of New York in the investigation of the administration of New York city, the governor smoothed all this out by approving the demand of Tammany that the inquiry be enlarged to take in the whole state. Then came the report of Samuel Seabury, commissioner, in the case of District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain. Mr. Seabury mildly censured Crain but recommended that he should not be removed from office. The worst he had to say against Crain, after months of delving into his record was that the Tammany prosecutor had "busied himself ineffectively" and that particularly as regards the racketeering situation, had failed to act "in a fitting and competent manner."

Mr. Crain being a good Tammany man, the supposed breach between Governor Roosevelt and Tammany was still further lessened, and the prospect that he would have the support of the entire Democracy of New York in next year's convention was still further increased.

ONE of those brutal crimes that shock the nation occasionally came to light when Harry Powers of Clarksburg, W. Va., confessed that he had murdered Mrs. Asta Eicher of Park Ridge, a suburb of Chicago, and her three children, and also Mrs. Dorothy Lemke of Massachusetts. The bodies of his five victims were found buried under his garage. Powers had wooed Mrs. Eicher through a matrimonial journal and enticed her and the children to Clarksburg, where he slew them with a hammer and by strangulation. Since he had been corresponding with many other women the authorities have been searching his place for other bodies.

GOV. C. BEN ROSE of Montana, convinced that many forest fires were being set by unemployed men so they could get work fighting them, placed several counties under martial law and sent detachments of the National Guard to halt the incendiarism.

SIR HALL CAINE, one of England's most eminent novelists, died at his home on the Isle of Man of heart disease, at the age of seventy-eight. His novels made him the storm center of many controversies and they also made him one of the wealthiest novelists in the world.

MRS. PHOEBE OMIE of Memphis, Tenn., veteran woman aviator, was the victor in the woman's division of the national air derby which started at Santa Monica, Calif., and finished at the national air races in Cleveland. When the handicap computations of the race officials were ended it was found that Phoebe also had won the open sweepstakes, besting all the men contestants. Winners in the men's division were D. C. Warren, first; Lee Brusse, second; Eldon Cessa, third, and Marcellus King, fourth.

CREWS of six ships of the Chilean navy mutinied at Coquimbo and held their officers prisoners, demanding that the government cancel reductions in pay that had been announced. A group of noncommissioned officers were directing the activities of the fleet at latest reports and they sent the ultimatum of the men to Santiago. The cabinet met in the capital and decided that the mutiny should be put down with vigor, believing the entire nation would support such a course. The vessels concerned, representing a large part of the nation's navy, were the battleship Almirante La Torre, the cruiser O'Higgins and the destroyers Oreleta, Serrano, Aldea and Hyatt.

MUSSOLINI and the pope have finally settled their long quarrel over the Catholic Action clubs. Those organizations are allowed to resume their activities but are restricted to purely religious endeavors. They are barred from sports and athletics and are not to intrude into the syndical or trades union fields.

How They Say "Number, Please?"

IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

On the roofs of these buildings in Bratislava, formerly Pressburg, are crossarms and insulators which would seem to indicate that, telephonically speaking, some cities in Czechoslovakia are still in the open-wire stage. The telephone, however, has played an important part in the development of the new Czechoslovakian Republic, particularly since November, 1923, when transoceanic radio telephone service was extended to Prague, the capital. In October, 1929, overseas service was extended to the remainder of the telephones in the country. About 170,000 Czechoslovakian telephones may now be reached by Bell System subscribers. The Czechoslovakian telephone operator cuts her "Number, please?" in two, using only the latter half of the expression. When she receives a signal from a calling subscriber, she answers with the Czech word "Prosím?" or, sometimes, with the German word "Bitte?" In either event, what she means is "Please?"

Not swords into plowshares, but telephone cable into trophy cup, is the transformation represented in this picture. When a telephone cable extending west from Chicago reached Omaha, so great was the interest it aroused that a section of its protective lead sheath was beaten into shape, silver-plated, polished, engraved, and presented as a competitive golf trophy for telephone men. Why risk your neck for $4.98*

SOONER or later worn tires are going to let go. That may be dangerous.

Honestly now, is it worth taking the chance of going into a ditch or having a smash-up due to a blowout, when you can get fine new Goodyears like these for so little money?

If you have any doubts about the condition of your tires, drive in. We will look them over and give you the low-down. You can believe what we say — we couldn't afford to be anything but on the level. We know that as well as you do.

Revival Meetings at At Theatre Have Good Attendance

The special meeting, sponsored by the John 3:16 Mission, held at the Campbell Theatre Sunday afternoon and evening were both well attended. A number of ministers were there and added greatly to the spirit of the services. Rev. Miss Gertrude Knight brought two interesting messages which were immensely enjoyed by the audience.

Rev. Knight is preaching on subjects interesting to everyone as she has traveled all over the country and has a different topic each evening. Wednesday evening her subject will be "Sign of the Times" and Friday evening she will tell of her experiences and early life in the ministry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bondon of KQW fame are entertaining on the musical program with several selections both vocal and instrumental. Miss Amy Shultz will sing and play each evening. Miss Schulz can play a piano accordion, saxophone, banjo and piano well and is very entertaining.
Also there will be illustrated songs.

All are invited to attend these services at the Campbell Theatre each evening at Frank Coupland and sentenced to pay a fine of $250 on an illegal possession of liquor charge. He was unable to pay the fine and must serve the 50 day sentence.

GEO. GEROW TRIAL SET FOR THURSDAY

Immediately after being released yesterday on liquor charges, George Gerow of 10 Railroad avenue was re-arrested by Sheriff Emig on a charge of unlawful possession of liquor. The trial was set for Thursday.

Justice of the Peace Grandin H. Miller flayed the undercover agents for getting drunk while gathering the evidence on the first charge.

7:30, Saturday and Sunday special services will be held in the afternoon at 3 o'clock and also at 7:30.

Gerow was arrested in a night raid on his place where six jugs of whiskey and quantities of beer were found.
The undercover agents testified that they bought liquor from Gerow on two occasions and both times became drunk on the booze they bought.

The new charge was made against Gerow before Justice of the Peace John D. Blaine.

Mr. W. A. Wellington and his wife, of Hanford, spent last week with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wellington of Infirmary road. Miss Jean-and Stewart Wellington returned with their aunt and uncle to Hanford for a week.

"I sho' love to serve dinner where there's an electric range"

COOKING problems disappear in the home with an electric range. It's simply a matter of serving the food, deliciously cooked.

With the electric range you don't need to baste, stir, and watch over food. Just put your dinner in the oven, set the electric timer clock, and go away for an hour, or for all afternoon if you wish. When you return home you'll find a complete dinner baked to delicious perfection—unwatched—untended. Electric cooking is cool and clean. As for cost of electricity, that averages 1c a meal per person.
